'We care, America'

"We Care, America" is the theme for the 4th of July Romulus Independence Day Parade which will be staged in commemoration of the nation's 207th anniversary.

The parade this year will be followed by an old-fashioned community picnic at Elmer Johnson Park and will be highlighted by the Romulus Fire Department's annual waterball fight in the afternoon city officials say.

There will also be a gigantic fireworks display.

Individuals or organizations that wish to participate in this year's parade or parade festivities are urged to contact parade coordinator Rita McLaren at 941-0666, extension 242.

Open House at Romulus High

Ninth grade students and their parents are invited to an orientation meeting at Romulus Senior High School at 7 p.m., Wed., June 8.

E.L. Sheffield, high school principal, has invited the students and their families to the high school to discuss school policies, curricula and instructions. The students will also meet with some of their future teachers and administrators.

Also, at 7 p.m., Tues., June 14, Principal Sheffield will hold his last-of-the-school year "rap session" with parents. Parents are invited for coffee and donuts at the high school's library.

Free Health screenings set

Free health screenings for persons 60 and older will be offered on July 20 at Renton Junior High School, 31578 Huron River Drive in New Boston.

The screenings are part of the "Discover Good Health" program sponsored by the Peoples' Community Health Authority.

Telephone 722-3308 for appointments.

Recall Blanchard meeting scheduled

A "Recall Blanchard" meeting is scheduled for 2 p.m., Sunday, June 12 in the park-area adjacent to the Livonia City Hall, 33000 Civic Drive, at 2 p.m., Sun., June 12.

The location of the meeting is near 5-mile and Farmington Rds. The meeting is being organized by the Recall Blanchard Committee and those attending will have an opportunity to sign and obtain petitions for circulation in their area.

Stakes high in school election

Health of students, quality education are issues

Residents in the Romulus Community School District will go to the polls on Monday to decide three key proposals that school officials deem critical to the "health, safety and welfare of the students in the school district."

They will also re-elect school board incumbent, JoAnn Marvicsin, to a 4-year term on the board. Mrs. Marvicsin is not being challenged for the job.

However, a $1,400,000 bond issue, plus a proposal for a 3 mill tax issue should bring voters to the polls in record numbers when the polls open at 7 a.m. on Monday. They'll close at 8 p.m.

State Superintendent of Public Instruction Philip Runkel has sent a team of workers into the school district to help drum up support for the three proposals. Runkel today called for a "big voter turnout in the school millage election."

"I predict that Romulus's voters Runkel concluded with this final note: "I hope that the community groups will work together so that lated improvements to Romulus Senior High, Hale Creek School and Barth School?

'This election will determine the quality of education in Romulus for many years to come...'

Dr. William Bedell
Superintendent of Schools

will approve the millage proposals that are on the ballot when they go to the polls if there is a big voter turnout," Runkel said. Runkel added that the low voter turnout last April was a significant factor in the defeat of the proposals. (Only 10 percent of the voters turned out April 18 to defeat the millage and the request for bonds to repair the school roofs and eliminate asbestos insulation).

the students in the Romulus schools will receive a quality education."

The proposals that local voters will face on Monday's ballot read, in part, as follows:

- Shall Romulus Community School District borrow the principal sum of not to exceed one million, four hundred thousand ($1,400,000), and issue its general obligation unlimited tax bonds, therefore, for the purpose of replacing roofs and re-

- Shall the limitation on the amount of taxes which may be assessed against property in Romulus Community School District be increased for a period of one year, 1983 by .6 (6/10th) of a mill of the state equalized valuation on all taxable property in the district, in order to provide funds for removal and replacement of asbestos insulation in Romulus Senior High School?

- Shall the limitation on the amount of taxes which may be assessed against property in the school district be increased for a period of four (4) years, the years 1983 to 1986, inclusive, by three dollars per thousand of the state equalized in order to provide funds for operating purposes of the school district?

The school district has taken the construction firm that built the Bart and Halecreek school roofs to court in hopes that they would recover damage for alleged shabby construction. The schools have argued that the roofs are defective. In the meantime, rain waters are leaching and rusting the steel in the structure and causing damage.

If approved, the .6 of a mill would pump approximately $187,000 into (See ELECTION, Page A-3)

Just outstanding

Among the academic leaders at Romulus High, three students stood out as outstanding: Todd Gibbs, (at left), Sheryl Paton and Armando Zanoca, (at right) who were honored by the Romulus Rotary Club during Honors Convocation held last week. Gibbs was the recipient of the Edward Baum Memorial Scholarship of $1,000 to attend the school of his choice; while Miss Paton received the All-Around Female Senior Award, a $100 Savings Bond, also donated by the Rotary Club, while Armando was the All-Around Male Senior. Pictured with the students is Joel Carr, President of the Romulus Rotary Club, co-sponsors of the Honors Convocation. (See stories in today's edition).

'A moving force'

Romulus loses close friend, Mr. Quiney

Described as a "positive force in the community" and a man who loved people and his city, William M. Quiney, Jr. passed away last week.

Mr. Quiney, 81, a veteran of World War I, died on June 2 at the Veteran Hospital in Ann Arbor. Services were held for Mr. Quiney at James Cole Funeral Home in Detroit and interment was in Metropolitan Memorial Park in Belleville.

Mr. Quiney also served as founder and president of the Romulus Homeowners Association. He is survived by his wife, Calburnia.

Also surviving are six sons: Isaac, William III, Curtis, Calven, Reggie and Lenoard; four daughters: Lilley, Esther, Carolyn, Irene and 39 grandchildren and 58 great grandchildren.

"He was a moving force in this community," said Beverly McNally, City Treasurer, a close associate. He has always been a positive force for many, many years and I counted him as one of my good friends and advisors.

"I'm sure that I can say this for all in this community that Mr. Quiney will be missed."

Summer jobs available for low-income kids

If you're between the ages of 16 and 21, and are looking for summer employment, read on.

To put a dent in youth unemployment, the Summer Youth Employment Program for low-income residents of Wayne County between 16 and 21 will make available 110 positions in Sumpter, Van Buren and Huron Townships.

It will also serve low-income youth in Belleville and New Boston.

Qualified youth will be either self-supporting, living with unemployed parents or receiving Aid to Family (See JOBS, Page A-3)

In Huron school district

School board asks 3-mill hike for buses, repair, and programs

By JERRY DESHARNAIS
(Special ANP Writer)

Almost 5,800 voters are eligible to cast their ballots in the Huron schools' millage election on Monday, June 13.

According to a survey taken in 1978, here is the breakdown of voters in the District:

Precinct #1 (urban area of New Boston) - 2,064

Precinct #2 (Huron Community Center-waltz) - 1,083

Precinct #3 (Huron High School area) - 2,672.

At stake are four separate millage proposals, totaling three mills; and two school board posts.

The last request for millage, in 1981, was defeated. It also asked for three additional mills.

However, this millage request is being held against the backdrop of threatened loss of accreditation for Huron High School.

This new development has underlined the chronic needs of the school system in that the criticism comes from an outside source: the University of Michigan Accreditation Committee.

Specifically, the committee cited the high school for improper maintenance and lack of adequate counseling service, problems which would be dealt with by passage of two of the propositions on the ballot.

Another of the propositions has to do with the general school population, the purchase of four new buses to replace some of the oldest vehicles in the 30-bus fleet. More than 90 percent of the students are bused to school.

The fourth request concerns the elementary schools. It asks for money to provide instruction in the areas of music, art, and physical education, curriculum subjects which were cut back between 1977-82.

How the voters will view these requests is a matter of conjecture.

School Supt. Gary Jackson cites as reason for the millage request the projected loss of some 200 students, regular and adult education, in the upcoming academic year.

This loss will mean $383,000 less in state revenue.

The total 3-mill request would provide the equivalent of that. Each mill that is passed will generate $94,000 locally, and the state would contribute an additional $31,000.

Passage of the total three mills would generate $375,000.

Here are the four propositions:

- ¾ mill for purchase of buses
- ¾ mill for repair of roof
- ½ mill for counseling program

- ¾ mill for music, art, and physical education on the elementary level.

The Huron community has one of the highest turnout vote patterns in the area. Elections generally run very close.

Three candidates are vying for two positions as trustees on the Huron School Board in the June 13 election.

Of the three, one is an incumbent, James W. Pershing, president of the Board, who is seeking a fourth term.

The other two candidates, Shirley A. Burgess and Richard L. Town, Jr., are seeking office for the first time.

The two positions are for four-year terms.

Following are brief biographies and comments of the three candidates:

RICHARD L. TOWN, Jr., 38, is seeking public office for the first time.

He and his wife Barbara have two children, Erik, 12, and Errol, 11, who both attended Huron schools.

Town is a graduate of Kearsley High School, Flint, and received his degree in Mortuary Science at Wayne State University. He served in the U.S. Army from 1965-68.

He is employed at the Howe-Peterson Funeral Home, Inc., as a funeral director.

A past president of the Exchange Club of Dearborn, Town has resided in New Boston for eight years.

3 candidates vie for 2 board seats

"I was approached by several members of the community," Town commented regarding his candidacy, "and after long consideration I decided to seek election."

"I feel that I have good common sense," he continued, "and a desire to see a better grade of public education."

"I feel that a major problem is public opinion. To improve public opinion of the public school system you have to get parent involvement. We must have the students, parents and teachers working as a team."

SHIRLEY A. BURGESS, 53, is seeking office for the first time.

She and her husband Richard are the parents of three daughters, two of whom are married.

Burgess is the Transportation Supervisor for the Gibraltar School District.

She graduated from Franklin High School, Griffith, Indiana, and attended college two years.

"The Huron School District is facing the problem of declining enrollment," she said, "which is affecting the financial structure of the schools."

"Helping to find a solution to this problem will be my main concern (See INCUMBENT, Page A-3)

Romulus' Todd E. Gibbs is winner

Rotarians present annual Baum Memorial Scholarship

The 1983 recipient of the $1,000 Rotary Ed Baum Memorial Scholarship is Todd E. Gibbs.

The award was presented by Romulus Rotary President Joel Carr at the May 26 Honor Program held at Romulus Senior High School. Carr is the Business Manager for the Romulus School system and former Romulus High School Principal.

Todd attends Romulus Senior High School and will enroll at the University of Michigan in September of 1983 where he plans to major in engineering. He is the Romulus High School Class of 1983 Valedictorian and thus academically leads his class in scholarship.

In addition, to spending his time studying, Todd has found time to serve as Class President; be a part of the National Honor Society; play in both the Symphonic and Jazz Band; attend the American Legion Boys' State Program and Student Leadership Forum. He is a member of the R.H.S. Conservation Club; played football for three years and is a member of the Romulus Booster Club. Todd has been involved in raising money for needy children and helped in city elections. His interests are photography, airplanes, athletics and fishing.

Todd resides at 30742 Dorset Avenue with his parents Warren and Dorothy Gibbs.

John Domas, scholarship chairman and Romulus Senior High School Counselor, said "that the selection of the scholarship recipient is a most difficult undertaking. All candidates are outstanding and represent a highly selective group of students."

The Ed Baum Memorial Scholarship has been named in honor of the late Edward M. Baum, Jr. who served the Romulus Community Schools with devotion and distinction for 24 years.

He began his career in education in 1957 as the head coach of track and cross country team as well as assistant football coach. In 1964, he was appointed athletic director and in this position guided Romulus sports fortunes through several of the district's most successful seasons. Mr. Baum went on to become assistant principal of Romulus Junior High in 1976, a position he held until near his death from cancer at the age of 57 on October 28, 1981.

In spite of the long and often late hours that his job required he found time to further serve Romulus through his involvement with the Romulus Rotary Club. Ed Baum joined Rotary in 1963. He was named Rotary Club President in 1972. He was a valued and active participating member

Board votes to keep it that way

Security is Sumpter's bank

By EVE SILBERMAN
(ANP Special Writer)

Sumpter Township Treasurer Clarence Hoffman lost one battle at the May 24 Township Board of Trustees meeting when the Board, over his objections, voted down a proposal that would transfer more than half a million dollars in water fund revenue from Security Bank and Trust to Manufacturers' Bank.

He lost another battle when the Board voted to award the contract for a preliminary Bemis Road drain study to the township's engineer's own firm. Hoffman charged a "conflict of interest."

Hoffman, who made the motion to transfer the $532,009 in water fund revenues, said of the vote: "I'm very disappointed. We shouldn't have all our money tied up in one bank—besides Manufacturers offered us the better deal."

Trustee Virgil Humphries was the only Board member supporting Hoffman's proposal. Trustees Michael Huziak, John Morgan, and Floyd Bevins, Township Clerk Louis Banatol, and Township Supervisor Jim Reeves all voted against transfer of the funds—the Township's single largest share of revenue.

Monies from the township's water fund and general fund have been deposited at Security Bank and Trust in Romulus for the past three years. Previously, the township had banked with Manufacturers Bank and National Bank of Detroit.

Elected treasurer in November, Hoffman explained that he wanted the switch because it was "much healthier" to have two banks handle the township's funds. He also said Manufacturers Bank would give the Township an "all-round better deal."

"Security Bank and Trust is charging us $1800 a year just to handle our account," he said. "That other bank won't charge us a cent. This township needs to save every penny it can. We're in the hole." (The township's projected deficit for 1983-84 is $53,325.)

"Manufacturers Bank also expressed a real interest in helping us invest our funds to make the most for our money," Hoffman added.

Trustees who voted against the switch emphasized their satisfaction with Security Bank and Trust. "They're doing a fine job," said Supervisor Jim Reeves, who also criticized the past performance of Manufacturers Bank. "Manufacturers didn't advise us on investments to make money, as this bank does."

"Security Bank and Trust has also indicated that, when the economy picks up, they'll see about setting up a branch office in Sumpter," he added.

"We've got a good working relationship with Security Bank and Trust, and I want to keep it," said Trustee Floyd Bevins.

Robert Grozenski of Security Bank and Trust and Ron Van Pelt of Manufacturers Bank were both on hand to argue their cases at the meeting.

Hoffman made ripples earlier in the meeting when he cast a lone vote against awarding the Bemis Road contract to Tri-County Engineering in Detroit, the firm of Township Engineer George Wilhelmi. Sponsored by Sumpter and Van Buren Township, the study of the conditions of the Bemis Road drains precedes an intended larger study on all the drains in Sumpter Township.

Asbestos is key to Romulus school vote

Deadly issue

Until a year ago, the biggest worry for most students at Romulus Senior High School was their grades.

But the discovery of airborne asbestos fibers has given students and the entire community cause to become concerned about the health of those who are exposed to the hazard on a daily basis.

Tests made at the high school in May, 1982 reveal that students and staff are exposed to the presence of airborne asbestos.

Exposure to asbestos can cause asbestosis, a suffocating lung disease, and cancers of the lung and other vital organs.

The high school's problem is 47,000 square feet of ceiling which was sprayed with asbestos for insulation in the fifties. The aging roof leaks despite repairs over the years and has caused the ceiling to deteriorate.

Loosened asbestos fibers escape and contaminate the air. These fibers are nearly indestructible, and once inhaled, remain in the body forever and can cause cancer ten or 20 years later. The long life expectancy for young people provides extensive development period for asbestos-related disease.

Some students feel that the community doesn't care about the asbestos problem because the ceiling has not been replaced a year after the danger is made public.

One who is concerned, Stacey Farrell, a ninth grader at the high school, asks: "What can kids do?" As an afterthought she adds, "We shouldn't have to do or say anything to get rid of the asbestos. It's the responsibility of parents to take care of us." "We need help! We have to breathe it (asbestos)", Stacey continues. "It's different for people when they or their kids don't have to (breathe it)."

Concerned parents have formed the Asbestos Removal Committee (A.R.C.) headed by Phyllis Kreft, Sandra Kreitsch, Joan Omarzu, Sylvia Shahan, and Jeanne Neidermeyer to alert the community about the danger to their children.

A.R.C. feels strongly that the health hazard must be removed immediately from the High School.

A film shown on ABC television during the Christmas holidays called, "Asbestos — A Way to Dusty Death" was the spark which started ARC's campaign to rid the school of the asbestos danger.

President of the Romulus Board of Education, Daniel R.

Bales concurs with the committee's feelings.

"This is a definite health hazard and should be removed", Bates said.

On June 13, residents will decide whether .6 mill will be levied for one year to replace the existing ceiling and remove the health threat from the school.

The ballot also contains a second proposal for a bond issue to replace the roofs at the high school, Hale Creek and Barth Elementary Schools, and a third proposal for 3 mills for four years for operation of schools.

Jennifer Harrieff, who is also in the ninth grade at the High School, said, "It would only cost most families who own their own home less than $12 (to replace the ceiling). Kids should tell their parents about the asbestos and ask them to get out on June 13 and vote."

Program restoration is asked for elementary schools.

to listen, even if reluctantly.

Interestingly, people seem to be more receptive when the money request is for something concrete and obvious.

Here is the opinion of a taxpayer, who wishes to be unidentified:

"I can say for sure that as far as transporting children, we do need buses. And I think that fixing up the roof is necessary."

But he stops at the water's edge when it comes to the other two propositions for millage: one which would provide a counselor for the high school, and another which would provide instruction for art, music, and physical education on the elementary level.

Counseling is abstract. It doesn't leak like a roof and it doesn't break down like a bus.

But for the University of Michigan Accreditation Committee, a counselor is as real as the librarian which Huron High lacks, and it is as real as the 11 other violations which were discovered during an inspection in December, 1981. Some of which have been corrected.

But the Committee has warned the School District that if the violations are not cleared up, the school will be dropped from the accreditation list, which is like a medical school losing its academic credentials.

So Gary Jackson and his "Committee of 100" has to first convince the community that his requests are necessary.

All this is happening after the curriculum has been slashed to the bone, a phenomenon which has occurred in almost every school district in the country.

"In 1977 we had 132 teachers," said Nan Smith, "and since then we have slashed counselors, social workers, psychologists, librarians, elementary art, music, and physical education.

"We used to teach six periods a day but now the kids only get five a day."

"We slashed lots of good teachers, teachers of math and science. We've lost 45 to 50. We had 88 last year."

That latter sentiment is echoed by the unidentified taxpayer:

"I think we lost a lot of good teachers," he volunteered.

So apparently the cutting went to the bone.

"I believe that we slashed away at our program and we hurt ourselves too much," said Joanne Elliott. "We lost students. And we will not regain them. And we will never recover from where we were."

"Supt. Jackson has looked very positively at things. And it just has made things much more positive."

Still there are those who are opposed to a millage increase:

"You and I know," said another unidentified resident, "that we have been hit with a 38.8 percent tax increase in the state, and not many people are going to be anxious to vote for any tax increase. I would be very surprised if it went through."

"I won't vote as a gesture of opposition to the whole millage election. A don't vote is as good as a no vote."

And there are those who are in favor of the millage:

"I think the Huron School District," said John McKinney, 43, who has three children, two of whom are in the schools, like all government units, needs more money to operate.

"It needs something other than money. But it first of all needs money."

"I think that even in bad economic times, most families can afford (to pay) some money. We have always been proud of our ability to take care of ourselves."

"I don't know what the millage means in actual dollars, but we're probably talking about less than $50 a year for the average family, per year."

And perhaps the past bone cutting has made the educators a little more realistic:

"Educationally, things have changed in the last 10 years," said Nan Smith. "A philosophical change. Ten years ago we tried to expand the kid's horizon an awful lot."

"We would say 'life is exciting!' and there are so many opportunities and here are a lot of things to experience."

"We went through the open classroom, an open center, where the kid would get involved."

"This required a lot of textbooks for individualized instruction for kids of varied abilities."

"But this was not necessarily what this community desires."

"My feeling is that what I pick up from the people in the community is that they would like all of their children to pick up the same information, using the same books. All of the kids would have the same base."

Perhaps that is the "basics" that the people have been asking for.

But after the April 21 letter from the U of M accreditation committee, the community is discovering that even the "basics" cost money.

There is a bottom line. It is Supt. Jackson's challenge to get that message across to the voter.

"I'm an optimist," he said.

Stakes high in election the school treasury while the 3 additional mills would bring in another $900,000 that, school officials say, would help restore programs. Because Romulus has cut out some essential academic programs and cut back from a six to a five-hour school day, the school district was notified that they are in jeopardy of losing accreditation.

School officials have been warned that the asbestos problem at the high school is also critical to the health of the students and teachers.

"Monday's election is critical for three reasons," said School Superintendent, Dr. William Bedell. "We have to protect the health of the high school students by voting for the removal of the asbestos; secondly, we must protect millions of dollars of investments in our buildings by approving the bond issue for roof repairs."

"And, thirdly, we need to restore program to keep up with current inflation by voting for the 3 additional mills."

"This election will determine the quality of education in Romulus for several years to come," Dr. Bedell concluded.

Other youth will be qualified based on income and family size.

College students working their way through school may be eligible for summer employment if their parents do not claim them as tax exemptions.

The program pays $3.35 an hour. All employees will work seven to eight hours a day, Monday through Thursday. Attendance at job skills training sessions on alternate Fridays will be required. The program begins Monday, June 20 and lasts through August 5.

Apply by calling Pat Gresock, Susan Ellsworth, Ms. Joanne Hart, or Ms. Rita Ringer at (313) 453-3100, Ext. 298, 8 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Huron schools polling stations

Polling stations for the June 13 millage election will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. Monday, at the following locations:

- Miller Elementary School - Precinct #1
- Huron Township Community Center - Precinct #2

• Huron High School Lecture Hall - Precinct #3.

Absentee ballots can be obtained in the school superintendent's office at Huron High up to 2 p.m. Saturday, June 11, or on election day in the event of an emergency.

JAMES W. PERSHING, 46, is the current president of the Huron School Board, a position he has held for six of the 11 consecutive years he has been on the Board, the other five serving as Trustee. He is seeking his fourth term.

He and his wife Beverly Kay are the parents of five children, the last child, Cheri, 14, attending Huron schools.

Pershing is a mechanical engineer with Ford Motor Company, working in the area of automobile development.

He is a graduate of Battle Creek Central High, and Tri-State College.

The school board president is presently a member of the Huron Community Service Group, and he was Cub Scout Chairman from 1967-1975. He was also active as president of People for Huron from 1969-1973.

"I decided to seek re-election," he said, "because Huron is on the verge of returning to the full educational program it had a few years ago, and I feel my past experience could be of some value."

"The major issue that Huron School District faces," Pershing continued, "is finances. We are losing some adult education students and K-12 students as well. This will result in a severe loss of revenue. We badly need the continuation of community support."

Sumpter Day committee unveils parade plans

Get ready for the Sumpter Day parade.

The parade committee this week unveiled plans to organize the parade scheduled for July 9 which will bring together a wide range of groups, features and dignitaries.

The parade will start at Sumpter and Willis Roads, at 11 a.m. It will continue on Sumpter Road to the park at Wear Road.

Many local and state dignitaries are expected to attend.

"We are inviting all individuals, churches and clubs in the surrounding area to participate. We will give out trophies for the parade in five categories, plus a special one for the children with decorated bicycles. Also, a special honor for the longest married couple in Sumpter Township," a committee spokesman noted.

There will also be booths for rent at the park for $10, for anyone wanting to sell arts and crafts, food, beverages, baked goods and other items.

A Prince and Princess contest for the 5, 6, and 7 year old children of Sumpter Township, also is planned.

A raffle of a 30-06 rifle, 12" B & W T.V., 21" Ceramic Owl Nite lite, 1/2 case mixed liquor and a Watkins Bar-B-Que sauce kit, will take place at 7 p.m.

The highlight of the day will be a gala fireworks display at dusk. For any information on the parade and booth entries, phone Adonna Demski, Chairperson at 697-7020.

Neighborhood Watch

Although no society has been able to erase crime and criminals from its ranks, communities are beginning to get tough on those who violate the laws of the land. One such program which helps to fight back is "Neighborhood Watch," wherein residents become the "eyes and ears" of the law enforcement agencies. The first Neighborhood Watch group organized in Van Buren, thanks to the resourcefulness of the police department, includes Nina Davis, (from left), Spencer McKenzie, Evelyn Smith, block coordinator, Gilbert Markham, Det. Mark Perkins, police officer Judy Keech, Sue Turner, Kathleen Hall and Robert Korzowski. If you wish to organize a Neighborhood Watch in your area, contact Det. Perkins at 699-2003.

Bids approved

Local bridges, roads to get repairs

State Representative Edward E. Mahalak (D-Romulus) announced today jobs have been awarded by the Michigan Department of Transportation on the bids solicited for highway work.

Of particular interest to the residents of the area is the reconstruction of one-half mile of Wayne Road, including resurfacing, replacement of bridge and sewer alterations from Michigan Avenue to Glenwood in the City of Wayne.

This project was awarded to A.R.R. Singer Morse Construction Company of Ann Arbor, Michigan. Singer Construction Company submitted a bid of $753,152.60. The project is expected to be completed sometime in June of 1984.

Bids were also solicited, for a project involving the cleaning and coating of steel on four bridges on I-94 Freeway and two structures on I-75 Freeway. The bridges are located in the cities of Romulus, St. Clair Shores and Taylor.

The expected completion date for this project was set for September, 1983, however, some specifications outlined by the Department of Transportation were misstated causing bids to be unusually high. The specifications are currently being reviewed by the Department and bids are expected to be resolicited in the very near future.

Faust says few area youths sign up for summer employment

State Sen. William Faust (D-Westland) is urging young people in the 12th State senatorial district to sign up for summer employment with the Michigan Youth Corps before the application period expires.

Applications for the jobs, financed by the State of Michigan, are being accepted through Friday, June 10.

According to Faust, the turnout in his Western Wayne District has been light.

"I would hate to see one young person miss out on one of these jobs because he waited too long to apply," he noted.

The program is open to youths 18 through 21 years of age. Jobs will last from eight to 12 weeks and will pay a minimum wage of $3.35 per hour.

Jobs will be appropriated based on the level of unemployment in the area.

According to Kelly Rossman, publicity director for the Youth Corps, the Plymouth-Canton MESC office has only taken 27 applications while the Romulus MESC office has fared better with 65 applications turned in.

Job applications are available at local high schools, community colleges and local MESC offices.

The 12th District includes Wayne, Westland, Taylor, Romulus, Belleville and Flat Rock and the townships of Huron, Sumpter and Van Buren.

Foodville lodged the team high game of 775; the Team High Series of 2,139; while Linda Brothers carded a 623 series and a 242 game, the third highest for the season. Richard Pokorwinski walked away with the third highest game of 246.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

By John Brimble

Here's a simple — and simply elegant — dessert. Cut up perfect raw fruit — strawberries are sensational, peaches are perfect — and place in a stemmed glass. Pour on chilled champagne.

Surprise meat loaf has a pinwheel design. Put out your favorite meat-loaf mixture onto a 10 by 12-inch rectangle on foil, and spread on filling of cheese, cooked rice, and parsley. Roll it up with the aid of the foil. Cut into thick slices and bake at 350° until done.

Add lemon juice — or other acid flavoring — to cornstarch mixture AFTER it thickens and mixture is off heat.

Shopping for bell peppers? Look for those that are firm, heavy for their size, and bright in color.

Sumpter banks on Security Bank

"It's a conflict of interest. If our engineer does the work, who's going to be looking over his shoulder, seeing that the study is done correctly?" Hoffman asked.

Reeves denied that there was a conflict of interest, pointing out that Tri-County's $3000 bid was the lowest of four bids received, and considerably less than the lowest bid of $4750.

Wilhelmi, who wasn't present at the meeting, said afterwards that the controversy was merely a result of new Housing and Urban Development regulations. HUD block grant funding is paying for the Beamis Road drain study.

"For the past few years, our firm has automatically done all the engineering work for Sumpter Township," Wilhelm said. "Now, because of changes in HUD regulations announced in February, we have to officially bid for the work, along with other firms."

"Economically, it doesn't make sense for one engineering company to supervise another," he added. "The township would end up paying double."

He was also voted by his fellow officer candidates to receive the "Citizen Soldier" award for best representing the attitude of Duty-Honor-Country.

Lieutenant Stosick is a member of the 191st Fighter Interceptor Group stationed at Selfridge ANG Base, Michigan. His duty assignment will be that of a Munitions Officer.

No kidding

1,794 educated kids are expensive

By JERRY DESHARNAIS
(Special ANP Writer)

The brochure reads: "Huron has... 1,794 GOOD (kids) reasons to vote YES!"

It has little caricatures of children on it, mostly smiling.

It is catchy because in actual fact they are what the hullabaloo is all about.

Not the administrators, or the teachers, or the school board, or the voters.

And they are expensive.

Consider the budget. In 1982-83 school year it was $6,386,083. That is a considerable amount of money and the whole reason for it is the education of 1,794 offspring of a population of about 10,000 people who reside in the Huron School District.

Of that $6,386,083 figure, residents in the Huron School District paid $2,776,577 in property tax last year. This amounts to roughly 43 percent of the income of the school budget.

The state provided almost an equal amount, $2,632,603 or 42 percent of the budget.

Federal sources of revenue provided about 4 percent of the money, $247,360.

The remaining 11 percent comes from a variety of smaller sources, some of them local such as fees for mobile home rental ($12,000) to interest on investments ($75,000); and some of them income from special education consortium ($120,013) and vocational education added-cost Huron ($43,500).

It all adds up to $6,386,083. Budget income.

Enter 1,794 GOOD reasons.

In Van Buren schools

Community leaders say: 'I've been back to the old school'

"I've Been Back to School" day in Van Buren Public Schools was a success.

"I've Been Back to School" was a project sponsored by the Van Buren Education Association to acquaint leaders in the community with the district's schools by inviting them to spend an entire school day with a teacher as the teacher performs his or her duties.

Many of the guests were asked to help plan lessons, perform routine classroom tasks, and do some instruction, if they wished.

"We want to show our community leaders some of the many good things which go on in their schools, as well as some of the problems we face. We think that this is a good way to do it," said Cynthia Coleman, President of the VBEA.

The project had the full endorsement and help of the Van Buren Board of Education. Connie Brinkerhoff, President of the Board, said: "It would be worth anyone's time to see how much fun the kids are having while they are learning."

Mrs. Brinkerhoff spent the day at Edgemont Elementary School with teacher James Lightfoot.

"We got a late start on the project, and we couldn't give many of the people we invited enough time to clear a whole day," said Leon Birdyshaw, Project Coordinator, "but we are so encouraged by our first try that we are planning to do it again in the fall."

People interested in participating in the project next fall, or wishing to suggest someone else, need only give their names and addresses to any Belleville teacher, or call Leon Birdyshaw at South Junior High School, 697-8711.

Mrs. Sue Farber, Teacher

Hi, my name is Anthony Richendollar, and I am a student in Mrs. Farber's sixth grade class at Elwell Elementary School. Our whole school is participating in our Elwell balloon launch on May 26. This is our first year.

Mrs. Binert, an active Elwell parent thought of the idea.

First, we fill the balloons up with helium, put little tags attached to the balloons that say who we are and ask them if they will send the balloons back to the address on the cards. They should tell us where they live and something about themselves.

Little prints

With the cases of child disappearances at a record high across the nation, federal, state and city officials have launched an all-out program to help parents and law enforcement agencies identify children. Some schools, like in Van Buren, have organized "Identikit" projects which suggest keeping kits that contain vital statistics on children. Fingerprinting children whose parents have given prior consent is one major way of identifying a child, if and when needed. Going to the print process is Haggerty Elementary School pupil Tate Travis, 3, who has police officer Terri Koski providing the helping hand.

Cardinal decorated with U.S. Army's Achievement Award

Staff Sgt. James E. Cardinal, son of Mary M. Westberg of Rural Route 5, Plymouth, Mass., and Richard L. Cardinal of 40501 Alden Drive, Belleville, has been decorated with the third award of the Army Achievement Medal at Fort Bragg, N.C.

The medal is awarded to soldiers for achievement of meritorious service and acts of courage.

Cardinal is a chemical operations specialist with the 82nd Airborne Division.

His wife, Patricia, is the daughter of Sarah Buchanan of 5 Rice St., Dorchester, Mass.

Airman Danny R. Milhem, son of Kathy A. Jones of 30799 Hale Creek, Romulus, has graduated from the U.S. Air Force passenger and household goods specialist course at Sheppard Air Force Base, Texas.

Graduates learned procedures to arrange air, rail, water and bus transportation for Department of Defense military and civilian employees. They also earned credits toward an associate degree in applied science through the Community College of the Air Force.

Milhem will now serve at Bergstrom Air Force Base, Texas, with the 67th Transportation Squadron.

He is a 1982 graduate of Romulus High School.

Timothy A. McShane, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis McShane, 10976 Buchanan, Belleville, has entered the U.S. Air Force's Delayed Enlistment Program (DEP).

According to Staff Sergeant Mike Walton, the Air Force recruiter here, McShane's entry into the DEP serves two purposes. First, it allows the Air Force to schedule an opening for him to attend basic training and be assigned to a job or skill area. Second, the DEP enables McShane, a 1980 graduate of Belleville High School, to wrap up his personal affairs before leaving home.

McShane will enter the Regular Air Force on Jan. 23, 1984. Following graduation from the six-week basic training course at Lackland Air Force Base, Tex., he will receive technical training in the general aptitude area and be assigned to an Air Force duty station.

David B. Bauer, son of Gaylord C. and Ladonna J. Bauer of 10226 Clayton, Belleville, has been promoted in the U.S. Army to the rank of sergeant.

Bauer is an electronic warfare specialist at Fort Bragg, N.C., with the XVIII Airborne Corps.

He is a 1974 graduate of Belleville High School.

Mack offers substitute law to keep WCGH in operation

Asserting that Wayne County General Hospital should not become a political football, County Commissioner Milton Mack, during an informal meeting last week, submitted his own version of a hospital ordinance that he feels is more in line with the County's new Home Rule Charter.

Another hospital ordinance proposed by Commissioner Kay Beard was passed for the day at a Committee of the Whole meeting May 26th when Mack argued it did not meet the Charter requirements. In an effort to work out a compromise, Beard asked for a special informal meeting Wednesday at which time Mack produced his own version.

"While we're all committed to maintaining the hospital facility," Mack told commission members, "the methods for implementation have not been agreed upon. If we separate the issue of how the hospital is run and how appointments are to be made, then we can eliminate the climate of instability that surrounds WCGH."

Mack's specific points included the continued operation of the facility, a provision for satellite branch facilities, agreement that the County Commissioners will determine what and where these facilities are to be located, and the adoption of an ordinance that is in accord with the County's Home Rule Charter.

In part, Mack's ordinance reads: Section 1. Wayne County pursuant to Section 3.117 of the Home Rule Charter shall continue to operate Wayne County General Hospital and shall operate, maintain and administer that hospital in accordance with the terms of the Home Rule Charter.

Section 2. Wayne County shall provide for the use of such other medical facilities to secure an adequate level of physical and mental health services to all residents of Wayne County as such need is defined by the County Commission. Such services to be provided in accordance with the Home Rule Charter.

Mack's proposal will go to the Committee of the Whole next week for further action.

potpourri

By Lee Smith
Suburban Living Editor

I had occasion recently to hit the coloring book, paint-with-water, sticker and connect-the-dot department at the local five-and-dime. As I shuffled through the selection looking for something with a Star Wars theme for our little birthday boy I became aware of a terrible void — where were the paperdolls?

With my own trio grown and no little girls to buy for, I don't frequent that slim-book division too often. Do they still print paperdolls? Do little girls ever play with them anymore?

Since they were my all-consuming passion as a youngster and prompted me to use my imagination to the fullest, I also wondered just how often kids pretend these days; or have their TV sets completely pre-empted that special part of their youth? Paperdolls were my escape from a world of four brothers — the chance to think-like-a-girl rather than like a cowboy or soldier.

The grandest birthday I can remember was the year "wedgies" came into vogue (and I mean the first time around.) I not only received a black and white pair of those "in" shoes from a favorite aunt but three books of paperdolls as well. THREE at one time! I was ecstatic!

Then there was the evening my parents returned from seeing "Gone With the Wind" at a downtown Detroit theater with a special packet for me—a booklet of all the characters and costumes from the movie in paperdoll form. After I'd completed the wonderful task of cutting out all those ante-bellum fashions for Scarlet, Melanie, Rhett and Ashley, my mom became the narrator using the dolls as she told me that exciting story of the South.

My cousin, Anita, and my best friend at St. John's School, Ann, were my favorite partners in building imaginary situations for our paperdolls. We were on the same wave-length and could lose ourselves for hours in let's-pretendsville.

The Dionne quintts and their vari-colored look-alike outfits were early-year favorites as were books with baby doll layette themes. We then progressed to grade-school children forms; a quartet called Pat and Pam, Sue and Ann which became dog-eared from use; on up to the Ziegfeld Follies "dolls" which brought our think tanks to a halt — how much could you do with creatures in feathers, bubbles and gigantic headdresses (akin to today's Las Vegas showgirls.)

Then we discovered Lana, Bette and Rita who were not only big names on the silver screen but "the" stars of our playtime. And that very trio, to this day, spends its golden years tucked away in the special box where I retired them as a pre-teen to await another era.

Way back then (and it was a long time ago), I decided to save them for the kids I might have "someday." That "Someday" produced three daughters, none of whom shared my addiction for the cardboard critters but who considered it a rare treat to be given "Mom's paperdolls" to wile away sick-bed hours.

It turned out, though, that Turner, Davis and Hayworth weren't the ones they requested once they discovered by "secret cache." What they considered a real "find" was the old National Geographic in which I'd filed away those flimsy little cut-outs we used to find in our Sunday comic sections.

Is there anyone out there who'll admit they remember Jenny Dare? Or Jane Arden?

Using their silhouettes as a guide, they became the Cheryl Tiegs and Christie Brinkley of my young "clothes-designing phase." I saved them all — departmentalizing them between beautiful scenes of Spain and copy on the Neanderthal Man.

Those were the dolls my girls learned to love and also learned were only for sick bay since they were much too fragile for everyday useage. They thought it interesting to see my rise from crude, crayon-colored designs to pastel chalks and finally India ink and watercolor. And, you know — some of 'em aren't too bad!

Those were the days Ann and I no longer played with paperdolls but merely used them as models around which to draw our fashions. We'd bring our collections to the playground every week or so and compare notes on our progress.

It was when Ann's aunt, a clothes designer herself, gifted Ann with India ink wardrobes for her entourage that I begged a bottle of the precious stuff off Sister Rose Camilla (the art teacher at SJS) in order to produce my own high-style creations.

'Twas a wonderful, carefree, fun-filled era and it's with time-worn nostalgia that I recall such simple times.

But I reiterate — whatever happened to paperdolls? Do little girls still enjoy the fun of pretending with them? Do your daughters?

INTERESTING BITS CHANCED ON DURING READING "BINGES"

According to the Immigration and Naturalization Service, there are more illegals apprehended here from Canada and Europe than from all of Asia and Africa combined. And nearly half of our recent population growth is attributable to illegal immigration.

Probably the most misleading popular song ever penned is "April in Paris" by Vernon Duke. April in Paris, according to meteorologists, is dreadful, full of rain and chill. September, on the other hand, is the finest time to be there (as it is in most places outside the Tropics.)

TRIVIA TIME

- Louisiana marshes supply most of the nation's muskrat, opossum, raccoon, mink and other furs.
- Dallas, Texas was named after George Mifflin Dallas. And who was he, you ask? The vice-president of the United States in 1845 under Zachary Taylor, that's who.
- The first clock with a pendulum was invented by Christian Huygens of the Netherlands in 1656.
- The earliest known zoo belonged to Queen Hatshepsut of Egypt about 1500 BC.
- Emily Dickinson wrote more than 900 poems, only four of which were published in her lifetime.
- Americans write more than 24 billion checks a year — over 100 checks a person.
- New Zealand was discovered and named by Dutch navigator Abel Tasman in 1642.
- Hartford, Conn. is often referred to as the "Insurance Capital of the World." Over 40 insurance companies with combined assets of $16 billion have their headquarters in the Connecticut capital.

'TIS THE SEASON

The golf pro met Chuck in the clubhouse. "Chuck," the pro said, "you used to play golf with George all the time but you don't anymore. Why?"

Chuck answered with a question of his own. "Would you play with a guy who tees the ball up in the rough, gives himself long putts and cheats on the scorecard?"

"No, I guess I wouldn't," said the pro.

"Well," answered Chuck, "neither will George."

THE BOTTOM LINE: It's better to sit tight than to attempt to drive in that condition.

Hardway, Anderson vows repeated at St. Aloysius

In a morning ceremony May 21 at St. Aloysius Catholic Church in Romulus, Jennifer Sue Anderson became the bride of Carl John Hardway.

The Rev. Walter Lezuchowski presided at the ten thirty rite before some 50 guests including the young couple's parents, Tom and Mary Anderson of 6348 Hyde Park, Romulus, and Charles and Marie Hardway of 7130 Farnum, Romulus.

Music for the wedding was played and sung by organist, Patrick Hogan.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride appeared in an antique white floor-length gown of qiana, the spaghetti strap bodice covered by a sheer blouse designed with a Victorian neckline and long sleeves enhanced with lace.

Made by her sister-in-law, Mrs. Grace Anderson of Detroit, the ankle-length veil she wore was held by a wreath of silk flowers in antique white, beige and white. Completing her ensemble was a colonial bouquet of yellow roses, white carnations, daisies and baby's breath tied with yellow and white streamers.

The bridegroom's sister, Suzanne Hardway of Romulus, was maid of honor in a long lilac qiana frock styled with a spaghetti-strap bodice accented by a sheer top with long sleeves and lace trim. She, too, wore a coronet of silk lilac flowers in her hair and carried a bouquet of lilac carnations and baby's breath with ribbon streamers.

Susan Anderson of Romulus was her sister's only bridesmaid in an outfit identical to that worn by the honor maid.

The bridegroom asked Philip Lindenmuth of Romulus to serve as best man and James Thomason of Livonia to be groomsmen.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Anderson wore a street-length burgundy dress with a floral hemline. The bridegroom's mother donned a cream-colored street-length frock with a pleated bodice. Both were honored with lilac-tipped white carnation and baby's breath corsages trimmed with white ribbon.

MR. AND MRS. CARL J. HARDWAY

Following a 2-day motor trip through Western Michigan, Muskegon and Manistee, the newlyweds took up residence at 7130 Farnum, Romulus. Both young people attended Romulus High School, the bridegroom having graduated in 1981.

The bride's mother was hostess at the rehearsal dinner at Baldo's Pizzeria in Romulus.

Elizabeth Rose Lochrie

They're "thinking pink" these late spring days out at the Westland home of Christopher and Donna Lochrie who reside at 35674 Schley. The reason for the bit of color in their lives is their newly-adopted daughter, Elizabeth Rose, who became part of their family April 14.

Born Jan. 18, she is the granddaughter of former Belleville couples: Mr. and Mrs. John Lochrie of Newport Richey, Fla. and Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Silvenis of Naples, Fla. A great-grandmother, Mrs. Jeanette Wargo, makes her home in Wayne.

Amy Lynn Zilka

Twenty-three-months-old Sarah

Kay Zilka has a new baby sister she's helping to look in on at her home in Romulus this early part of June.

The 9 lb., 6 oz. newcomer, who measured 21 inches, made her debut at 6:42 p.m. May 14 at Riverside Hospital in Trenton. Titled "Amy Lynn", she is the second daughter of Kenneth and Karen Zilka of 30964 Pennsylvania Road.

The girls, whose mother is the former Karen Rutkoske, are the granddaughters of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Rutkoske and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Zilka, all of Romulus. Great-grandparent honors go to Mrs. Genevieve Staffeld of Taylor and William O'Connell of Romulus.

VB Community Council entertains, sees to needs of convalescents

The regular monthly meeting of the Van Buren Community Council was held May 28 at the Van Buren Convalescent Center. After the meeting, Community Council volunteers served coffee and doughnuts to residents of the center. Hand-held electronic games were made available by the volunteers for the residents enjoyment during refreshment time. An old-fashioned game of checkers was very popular at one table.

The Community Council is a non-profit organization comprised of relatives, residents, friends and community people. One purpose is to help enrich the lives of people who live in nursing homes. A prime purpose of the organization is to educate members of the community as to the needs and rights of nursing home residents.

Volunteers find it rewarding when residents voice appreciation for coffee and goodies every Saturday morning. The wheel chair clean-up is a service that is greatly appreciated. Errands, one-on-one visits and letter writing are some of the niceties volunteers perform.

Funding has been accomplished through donations from other community organizations and from craft sales. The Community Council will sponsor booths at the Strawberry Festival (at Trinity Episcopal Church) June 18 and 19 and on Sumpter Day on July 9.

our opinions

Asbestos must go at Romulus High

Kids are known on occasion to harmlessly raise the roof. The residents of Romulus are now called upon to raise a roof so that no harm comes to the kids.

This regards asbestos in the structure in which the children go to learn. And unfortunately we have learned that asbestos can cause, within a matter of years, asbestosis, a fatal disease.

We hope that the voters acknowledge that simple fact of life, or death, and vote accordingly.

As for the other proposals facing the Romulus voters, the three mills asked by the school board has to do with the quality of education that Romulus students are getting.

That word 'quality' has a certain ring to it that we all admire. To provide it in education, as we know in our own work-a-day life, is another matter.

It requires, first of all, professionalism, which means sweat and care.

It requires programs so that the students get the basic options.

It requires bodies to provide the basic options.

It requires money — 3 mills.

And it requires your vote.

Get out and vote. Please.

And vote yes. Your kids deserve it.

Huron High School's accreditation at stake

"It's hard."

Those are the words of Huron School Superintendent Gary Jackson when asked what it's like to explain to a taxpayer how to figure out how much money 3 additional mills will cost.

This is not because the school superintendent has difficulty explaining the arithmetic, it's because it is difficult to understand.

For this we can thank the involuted, convoluted method of millage taxation in this State.

For the record, here is the formula:

Take your SEV (property evaluation) and multiply it times the total millage (59.45 if the millage passes) which will equal your property tax before rebate.

To figure out your true property tax, multiply your income times 3.5 percent, and subtract that amount from your property taxes without rebate. Multiply that figure times 60 percent.

Subtract that figure from the property taxes without the rebate.

That gives you your true property tax.

We would have liked to explain very simply how a voter can figure out what 3 mills would cost. But it's too complicated.

We can give an idea, however, of what the typical taxpayer will be assessed for the 3 additional mills.

One taxpayer, the father of three children who is quite informed on school affairs, figures it will cost less than $50 for the average family. That is his estimate.

The Superintendent was asked what he figures the average taxpayer will pay. He said $40. That is his estimate.

What is the likely cost? Somewhere between $40 and $50.

This does not include the rich, who will pay more.

Nor does it include the poor, who will pay less.

As for the senior citizens, we can only say this for certain. All seniors who have an SEV of $25,000 or less and an income of $10,000 to $20,000 will pay no additional money from this millage since they will get it back in the rebate in the Spring.

Everybody knows what is at stake. A roof which needs repair, four buses which need to be bought, counseling service for the high school, and music, art, and physical education instruction on the elementary level.

It will cost the average family about $40 to $50 a year in additional money to provide them.

If anything has been demonstrated the past couple years, it is the renewed community spirit.

This spirit showed dramatically when the Huron Township Board recently passed a resolution in support of the millage. This move was unprecedented.

There have been bingo, casino nights, and candy sales involving countless members of the community, from the adults to the kids.

The Huron Schools Athletic Association, a group of concerned parents, ran the sports program when there was no one to run it. So we know the spirit and the pride is there, and the dignity. And we know it hurts, but it's necessary.

Vote yes on school millage.

A mother's thoughts about public education

Today marks a milestone in the education of my children.

Twenty years ago I stood at the doors of Hamilton School with my oldest son as he was about to start his formal education. I say formal because his education really began at home. At the tender age of 5½ he was ready to enter school. Many questions crossed my mind. Will he receive a good education?

Will he be able to progress at his own level — be it accelerated or be it average?

Will he be offered extra curricular activities? When he is older will there be sports available for him?

Now twenty years later I watch my youngest of five children cross the stage at Crisler Arena.

Many events filter through my mind. After seeing three of my children attend Hamilton Kindergarten, a new school is built, now changing our area to the Tinkham School. Even though my older sons are attending parochial school my daughter must now attend Tinkham. No big deal — this is closer and just the first of the adjustments we must make.

With the closing of the parochial school I now find all five children attending Wayne-Westland schools. This September the two oldest begin Marshall Junior High. Many concerns were voiced — will we be happy with public school education? The boys were tested and put in appropriate classes. I could see the advantage of accelerated classes — they could progress at their own level. No frustrations about how will they adjust, are they working at their level and within their capacity.

In 1974 we began the Gifted Program. What better opportunity for the gifted student than participation in this program. My sixth grader was in the first class started at Tinkham. This is an experience he will always remember. I could go on and on about the advantages and the "good" in Wayne-Westland Schools.

We hear of the discontent and upheaval of students and parents. With increasing and then declining enrollment boundaries have to be changed and schools closed. This is a hard adjustment but we are all, at one time or another, faced with it.

What's harder than to explain to your son why his older brother graduated from John Glenn and while his other brother is a senior at Glenn.

he will be a sophomore at Wayne Memorial and graduate from Wayne.

Boundaries had to be changed because of enrollment. Kids adjust much better than parents. As to the education offered and the caliber of each school, let me tell you I found no difference in the educational system in either school. The same was available at both schools and the student got out of it what he put into it. You will find good and bad wherever you go. My children who graduated from Wayne Memorial have just as good an education as those who graduated from John Glenn. So the parents fears were unfounded.

The opportunities available to them were many. To name a few — music in elementary school, "Olympmetrics" in elementary, sports in junior and senior high, cheerleading. The children were involved in many varied sports and activities in our schools.

Also available to them were the evening activities — namely Scouts. Many parents spent numerous hours to give them the opportunity of scouting. I could go on and on about the opportunities available through the Wayne-Westland Schools.

As the ceremony comes to an end, so does twenty years of education in this school district.

I want to take this time to thank everyone we have come in contact with in these years between the time my oldest entered kindergarten and my youngest received his diploma. To the administration and the Board of Education, who saw that we had this outstanding educational system, to the principals and teachers who took the time to become friends to my children, to the extra encouragement they gave them to work to the best of their ability and to try a little harder when the going got tough, to all the school personnel who in some small way became a part of my children's lives I say "many thanks," without you this would not have been possible.

I will always remember these growing years of my children and back all areas of improvement in our school district. I will try to see that the students who will be coming up through our system receive the same high quality education that my children received.

Again people of Wayne-Westland "THANK YOU."

Chartering Van-Buren township

Tom Mooradian
Managing Editor

To protect themselves from the whims and greed of neighboring communities and cities, the Van Buren Township Board of Trustees voted last week to move the township toward "charterhood".

That move, coming shortly after the Boundary Commission cancelled an annexation (between Belleville and Van Buren) vote, would protect this community of approximately 19,000 residents from the designs of any "landgrabbers".

And since Van Buren has, what some consider the final "virgin lands" in Wayne County, most believe that Supervisor George Craven and the majority of trustees did the right thing.

This isn't to say that the two deserters, trustees Marilyn Montgomery or Thurston Jahr, who had their own reasons why they voted against the resolution didn't have legitimate concerns about the direction their colleagues were taking the township.

Mrs. Montgomery believes that the township citizens should have the right to decide whether they want to become a chartered township. She would have the question of a charter pass the voters' test.

Mr. Jahr, on the other hand, isn't actually against charterhood, but would have preferred to table the issue until he has had time to study the ramifications and the consequences of the act.

Most residents fear charterhood because it would give the township board the right to hike taxes. A township with a charter may levy up to but not to exceed 5 mills for operations; an unchartered township gets one mill to conduct the myriad tasks and chores of local government.

The reason why the five remaining trustees apparently went the route of the resolution is, if there is no vote of the people, taxes can't be increased.

This real marriage between the charter and Van Buren can be prevented if the people want to act. Supervisor Craven explains:

"If within a span of 60 days the residents of this township feel that the question of charterhood should be decided by the vote of the people they have the option to petition this board and place the issue on the ballot."

Craven said he backed charter status because "it mainly protects ourselves against annexation and it also gives the township a guideline, mandated by the state, by which to govern."

There would therefore be no election to find charter commissioners; no additional costs to become a charter township; and no campaign rhetoric.

Sounds awfully good from where I'm sitting.

Don't complain on Tuesday; vote on Monday!

It would be our good fortune if he continues his contribution to the schools system.

Shirley A. Burgess is our other choice.

This is her first run for office but she has credentials in education which are impressive. She is the Transportation Supervisor for the Gibraltar Schools.

This is just the kind of knowledge and expertise one hopes to elect to the Board. And we hope you do.

Give credit to Belleville for Victory Park

EDITOR — If you read the Western Wayne column in the Detroit Free Press for Thursday, June 2 you might have gotten the impression that the Wayne County Road Commission still controlled Belleville's Victory Park and was taking credit for either its improvement or abandonment.

The fact is that the Road Commission essentially abandoned Victory Park three years ago and after years of negotiation the City of Belleville obtained a ten-year lease on the park this past December.

We have installed new swings, built a sand box, put in a balance beam, two new drinking fountains, replaced three of the worst picnic tables and have kept it trimmed and mowed.

A 4-way see saw and two new park benches have just arrived and a permanent park grill is on order.

The comfort station will be opened as soon as the painting is completed and the plumbing has been repaired. More improvements have been planned by the Park Commission.

All of this has been accomplished from federal block grant funds.

No local tax money has been used except for some, but not all, of the labor for mowing and painting which was furnished by the DPW.

Governor should be impeached

EDITOR — Of all the arrogant, pompous, unmitigated gall that has characterized our legislators' behavior, this last act of "nose-thumbing" the public is the epitome of their "to hell with the taxpayer" attitude!

A presently, small group of senatorial recall candidates, consisting of Philip Mastin (D-Pontiac), David Sirotkin (D-Mt. Clemens), William Faust (D-Westland) and Patrick McColough (D-Dearborn), are attempting to meet in secret, behind closed door sessions in order to map out a "Defense Fund" which will ultimately be used to fight the recall drive.

You know, as well as I, that the "Defense Fund" will be financed with OUR TAX DOLLARS!! And as the recall list grows, more senators and representatives will avail themselves of that fund.

Just the other day I finally received my copy of the "Constitution of the State of Michigan of 1963 (As Amended)", and in it Article 1; Section 9, states "Neither slavery, nor involuntary servitude unless for the punishment of crime, shall ever be tolerated in this state."

And Article 1; Section 10, states, "No bill of attainder, ex post facto law or law impairing the obligation of contract shall be enacted."

I believe, two major ideologies have emerged in Lansing over the years. The first being the idea that we taxpayers shall be held in "involuntary servitude" to finance every whim and wish that our legislators and governor deem imperatively necessary for the moment. As I see it, our only "crime" is residing in this state and giving our legislators a free rein for too long.

The second is the insolent, vainglorious assumed stance that they can do anything they please. I specifically refer to Article 1; Section 10, of our State Constitution and Article 1;

Section 9; paragraph 3, of our United States Constitution — "...no ex post facto law shall be passed." At this point I am so furious, these pseudo legislators and Gov. James Blanchard is an act of dignity on our part. They ought to be IMPEACHED!!

There is no excuse that is acceptable! Either they know our Constitution and work within its parameter or they have no business being in their elected positions. On Inauguration Day each of them took an oath to uphold our Constitution — or did they have crossed fingers behind their backs as they were sworn in?

Not one resident of this state should sit back and give tacit acceptance. Everyone pays in one form or another — the worker who continually has his money confiscated from his paycheck and the elderly who pay a and the elderly who pay a very dear price, from their hearts, as children and grandchildren move to far states. The ultimate price, for us all, is the loss of rights and freedom.

I will not accept anyone's claim that we are living in a Post-Constitution Era. We have certain rights, guaranteed us by our Constitution, which will not be taken away, unless, we relinquish those rights. We're not rolling over to play dead.

Story of child's abuse 'sickening'

EDITOR — Those of us who were sickened to read of the four year old Detroit girl, Rosalyn Bryont, who died on May 15 after being scalded in a laundry tub, forced to drink vodka laced with pepper, forced to eat feces and urine, burned with cigarettes, and beaten, can do more than shake our heads in horror.

We can fight for more effective and enforceable legislation to protect children from abuse.

We can take measures to ensure that the judicial and social care agencies which have been entrusted to protect children actually do so.

How? By joining IM-PACT (In Michigan — Protect America's Children Today).

We are a local group which hopes to improve the lot of children by influencing our lawmakers and criminal justice system so that better protective legislation can be enacted and enforced.

In Rosalyn Bryont's case, the Department of Social Services had been investigating her situation for five months before her death.

DSS claims that its caseworkers asked the Wayne County Probate Court to remove her from her home on March 4.

The Court claims that no such request was ever received. No matter where the breakdown occurred, Rosalyn Bryont fell through the cracks of our social care structure. As we all know from previous stories reported in the press, it has happened before.

Must it happen again? Protecting children from abuse is everyone's responsibility IM-PACT, strictly a volunteer organization, desperately needs your help. More importantly, the children who now suffer in grim and brutal home situations need your help.

Our number is 871-0404. Meetings are held on the second Wednesday of every month at the Odyssey House in Detroit. Our next meeting is June 8 at 7 p.m. Please plan to attend, and please join us today.

Canton kickers say 'thank you'

EDITOR — This is an open letter to publicly thank the hundreds of people who helped to make the Canton Soccer Club's First Invitational Soccer Tournament such a tremendous success. As professionals in the public recreation field, we are well aware of the countless hours of planning and preparation which goes into such a large event.

Special thank-yous must go to Mr. Phil LaJoy, current Canton Soccer Club President and Mr. Steve Kozusko (past President) for their guiding influence and their entire clubs time and effort. Although we work together with the other Canton Township Department's on many projects, we must mention Jake Dingelday and the D.P.W., Chief Jerry Cox and the Canton Police Department and Aaron Machnik of the Building Department who deserve special recognition for their outstanding contributions. The Parks and Recreation Department Maintenance staff also performed countless tasks in preparation for this tournament.

Events such as this can only enhance Cantons growing reputation as a prosperous and thriving community. Ninety-eight youth soccer teams and their parents from all over Michigan, Ohio, and Canada visited our community and saw some of the best that Canton has to offer over the Memorial Day weekend. This was a beautiful way to open the new Canton Recreation Complex.

Congratulations on a job well done and a hearty thank you to everyone who participated.

Little Leaguers, please take note

EDITOR — In response to the letter, Little Leaguer without a uniform, I understand Mrs. Schurig's frustration.

Our son was in the Major Grapefruit for three years. Every year the uniforms became scarce and the ones that were returned were stained and ripped.

Wake up parents, you are responsible. The eight dollar fee does not entitle you to a free uniform or the abuse of one.

The F-League received new uniforms. I, for one, will send it back in excellent condition.

Also, the coaches do not want the children to wear the uniform to school or practice.

I'm sick and tired of parents who don't or won't take the responsibility of taking care of the uniform, so that the next year the kids will have a nice one to wear. Take Pride.

A post script to festival

EDITOR — As I stated in my letter last week, there were just too many people to thank publicly for their participation in the Michigan Week festivities, however, there are two groups which I did overlook that I feel should receive the highest praise.

The Romulus Volunteer Fire Department assisted the festival committee by providing the equipment to string the banners and flags which created the festival atmosphere in the downtown area. The Fire Department also made an "emergency run" to fill the Jaycees' dunk tank which was greatly appreciated.

Also in line for special praise are the Romulus Police Department and the police reserves who provided the much needed security for the Romulus Community Pride 10-K and for the festival itself.

And, once again, many thanks to all those who volunteered their time to make this festival a success.

reflections

'Didn't even know her name'

Today I feel philosophical. I feel philosophical because as I was driving down the street this morning, the pretty little house near the corner, with the manicured lawn and the impatiens making their splash of color in neat orderly little spots, made me remark to my friend how pretty I thought the house and the yard were.

"She just died, you know," my friend said.

"Why just died," I asked.

"The woman who lives in that house you admire."

That is when something hit me. Something I can't explain, and something I really don't know whether I like or not. My friend said the woman in the pretty house had just died, and I have lived in this neighborhood for almost thirty years, and I have never lived in this neighborhood for almost thirty years, and I have never seen that woman. I saw what she created, but I never saw her. I didn't even know her name.

When I later drove down the same streets I have driven down for thirty years, I looked at each house and tried to recall whether

I had ever seen its occupant.

And do you know the MAJORITY of those houses have been faceless to me during the years.

I know something about most of their lives. I have seen new cars in the driveway; I have watched shade trees grow from tiny saplings to stately trees in their yards; I have seen baby buggies on their porches, supplanted by tricycles and later on bicycles. Rarely, in my neighborhood, is there a 'for sale' sign and yet the whole neighborhood has turned over... people have come and gone... and I have never seen them.

I passed the pretty little house with the impatiens where the woman had died, and I said a little prayer for her. I tried to visualize what she had looked like, but there were no clues in the manicured lawn. I could only know she liked beauty and she was neat... oh, so neat.

"She wore flowers between her toes, you know," my kid said who was sitting beside me.

"How do you know she wore flowers between her toes?"

"Because when I was a little girl, Alice and me were riding our bikes past her house and Alice fell on the lawn and she came out to see if she were hurt. And she had on sandals, with flowers between her toes."

Thirty years I have lived just around the block, and the woman lived with flowers between her toes, and ran out to see if a little child were hurt falling from a bike, and I had never seen her.

But her life had touched mine, if only briefly, by that act of running from the house to the aid of a kid.

I don't know what that means, but it did make me start wondering how many of the faceless people in the houses around me, have touched my life, no matter how quietly.

A little while ago I was talking to my son on the telephone and I mentioned what I was thinking, and he laughed and said, "Maybe you shouldn't know how many times people you have never seen, touched your life, especially while we were growing up."

"Remember," he laughed, "the old man in the next block who caught David in the alley and swore that that little shrimp stood ten feet tall and painted a voluptuous woman on his garage? You never saw him."

"It was lucky I didn't," I laughed.

After I hung up I still had nebulous feeling that there was something I should know about the whole matter of living a couple of hundred feet from someone who could manicure her lawn, plant impatiens, wear flowers between her-toes, die, and you never, in thirty years had seen her.

I said I felt philosophical today. But I can't find any answers. I can't even find an answer to why this should all of a sudden seem important to me.

Maybe tomorrow I will go out and ring doorbells and say "Hi, I'm your neighbor." I don't think it would be wise to tell them I want to see if they wear flowers between their toes before I find out about it after they have died.

There's something rather sad about it, I think.

supporting our non-working brothers and sisters — this state is destined to grind to a halt. Unless those of us who are working are willing — even reluctantly — to cough up more for the coffers. That's reality — like it or not.

As for recalls, I've said it before and I'll say it again: Recalls are dangerous, disrupting and expensive tools used (and abused) by people who see it as a way of getting rid of people (or parties) who stand in their narrow, little way.

They've become a ridiculous and stupid fad, and it's time to look at what's left after the hoopla of the recall is over. Is life really that much better?

Oh, and if you're tempted to sign that petition against Governor Blanchard and his cohorts, maybe you had better look, too, at who might replace him. Do you really want that insurance man from Farmington Hills to sit in the catbird seat?

Would life really be that much better?

mona grigg

Not another recall!

At the risk of sounding like a broken record, I'm going to bring up recalls again. For two reasons: One has to do with the Governor Blanchard thing (and I'll get to that), but the other has to do with the fact that, here in Westland, there's a school board election coming up in just a few days (relatively speaking), and I haven't seen any campaign material yet. What's going on? No signs, no letter, no vitriol — nothing (But I'm writing this a week before you'll see it, so maybe by then...).

There are two seats up for grabs with four people having applied to fill them. The two incumbents, and two newcomers (one of whom, Glenn Anderson, tried to grab a seat last winter but failed).

Maybe the reason for the low-key campaign is that nobody really wants those seats. Maybe all four of those people are just saying they're running there would be flocks of people panting over those seats and they could just bide their time and ease out of it gracefully by losing the election.

I wouldn't blame them if that's what they thought. I wouldn't want those seats. Nosiree. No way. Not me. Not after what happened the last time.

The recall, remember? When four perfectly adequate people were ousted from the four majority school board seats for agreeing too often with the administration?

Last spring, somebody started up a petition drive and got enough signatures to send those four scrambling — and after a long and messy campaign, with 10 hopefuls vying for four seats, we finally pulled together and voted in four new board members.

And oddly enough, here we are, six months later, and there are some people who are unhappy again. They're shouting from the rooftops that the four we elected in December to fill the seats of the four who were ousted have turned out to be (Oh, no!) clones of the original Fearsome Foursome!

Now, I have to tell you that I haven't kept close enough tabs on any of them to know for sure if there's a grain of truth in that accusation, but I do know that the three remaining school board members — the original minority three (the very same three who looked on December's recall with what appeared to be unrestrained glee) — are still spitting and sputtering over every issue with nary a hope for a vote for their side — just like they did before that very expensive and incredibly irresponsible recall election.

So what did it prove, and who gained what? Nothing and nothing, as near as I can tell.

And now there's a person named John Lauve (pronounced "Love") for reasons I can't fathom) who says he's so disgusted with Governor Blanchard's 38 percent tax increase that he's ready, after five months, to get rid of him.

Now, nobody likes a tax increase — especially a 38 percent tax increase — but the reality of it is that our work force has dwindled to a precious few, even while this mighty state attempts to continue to operate. The sad fact is that without the tax dollars coming in from the Feds (Where was Lauve, by the way, when Ronald Reagan was in office for five months?) and from the work force — and, indeed, with more and more dollars going toward

"THERE'S ALWAYS ONE MORE WAY"

Your goal may seem impossible
Beyond your farthest reach
Success divides the chasm
That only hope can breach.

The darkness of discouragement
Settles deep within Till the light of future's promise
Can seldom enter in.

Every effort you put forth
Is quite a major cost
However firmly they're enforced
With all the rest are lost.

There's never any answer found
The more you persevere
Every failure that is made
Magnifies your fear.

The greatest challenge yet remains
That is sure to save the day
When you think that you've tried everything.
There's always one more way.

MADNESS
(Geffen)

In the beginning, Madness was a bit of a novelty act, at least in this country. They were, along with the Specials A.K.A., the English Beat, and Selector, the new English representatives of the ska revival.

Ska is an old form of music very much akin to reggae, albeit easier for the masses to grasp onto.

Anyway, Madness, with their brush cuts, funny walk, and hilarious videos seemed to quietly disappear from America's record shelves, but through no fault of their own. The label, the much heralded but now defunct Stiff America, couldn't even get the group's albums to the stores. So, we have no recent records in America to speak of, lots of hits in the U.K., and that's where Geffen Records came to the rescue. Good for Madness, good for Geffen, and good for us.

"Madness," the album, is made up of cuts from the band's last two or three British releases, though all sound totally at home on one LP. 12 songs, including the international hits "House Of Fun," "Grey Day," and "Rise and Fall."

The songs incorporate all the fun, music-hall rhythm-oriented escapades that have made the band the success story they are.

The current U.S. hit, "Our House," is climbing the charts as you read this, thanks in part to MTV, who started playing the song in this country. Recently, in England AND in Canada, "Our House" was voted the best pop/rock song of the year in separate polls. With a little luck and airplay, it could go straight to the top here, too.

On their debut album, Madness claimed their territory as "One Step Beyond." On this new album, they sing "Madness (Is All In The Mind)," maybe because that's where the songs stay after you've heard them, playing over and over. Cerebral pop for fun people.

VIOLENT FEMMES
(Slash/Warner Bros.)

Unlike Madness, the Violent Femmes are not for everybody. They are, however, for me. In fact, this record is, in my opinion, one of the best releases of the year.

Signed to Slash, the L.A. punk bastion that is now distributed by Warner Bros. Records, these three guys came from Wisconsin (or some equally benign state) playing a fierce brand of rock 'n' roll reminiscent of Lou Reed's

A genuine touch of Madness

Velvet Underground and also of Jonathan Richman's Modern Lovers. The Overstated meets the Understated and here's the result.

As was mentioned, this is not for everyone. If you think Clapton is god or that Journey is heaven on earth, then the Violent Femmes may be your hell. Then again, it might be just what you need.

Led by Gordon Gano, who does all the writing as well as playing guitar, violin, and handling the lead vocals, the actual lead instrument seems to be the bass of Brian Ritchie, who weaves in and out of the rhythm set down by drummer Victor De Lorenzo as fast as can be.

It's Gano's voice that most people would probably find unappealing, as it's out of the Neil Young/Jonathan Richman acquired taste school of singing. Anyone lucky enough to be familiar with the now-defunct Only Ones will find Gano's voice very similar to Peter Perret's.

The songs are tour de forces, one and all. Regardless of What Quincy says on his TV show, all "punk" bands aren't out to kill themselves and everyone else, as satirists the Dead Kennedy's lead them to believe. No, these songs are about life and living regardless of class.

Sex, for example, pervades many of the songs. "Why can't I get just one kiss?" asks Gano, following it with a more explicit sexual remark.

Other highlights include the almost-rockabilly "Blister In The Sun," the poignant "Kiss Off," and "Gone Daddy Gone."

Belleville is crowned district champ

Tigers face Garden City at regionals in Plymouth

In search of the coveted Class A state softball title, newly-crowned Suburban 8 Conference and district champion, Belleville, will travel to Plymouth Salem High on Saturday.

There, Coach Peggy Curtis's girls will take on Garden City in the first round of the regional softball championship scheduled for 10 a.m. The winner will clash with the victor of the Livonia Stevenson and Trenton contest, slated for noon.

The regional championship will be decided at approximately 3:30 p.m.

"The regional is a tough one," stressed Coach Curtis. "You have to have talent to get this far, and I know that the entire team realizes this. So far, it's been a dream season."

Belleville made it to the regionals by avenging an earlier loss to Ann Arbor Huron. The Tigers claimed a narrow 1-0 victory over the River Rats, then blanked Temperance Bedford 7-0, and went on to shut out Ann Arbor Pioneer 2-0 thanks to the incredible pitching of Judy Wisniewski, who got credit for all three victories. Her season total stands at 22-1-1.

Against Huron, Wisniewski fanned four and walked two in twirling a 2-hitter. She gave up a single in the fourth and one in the seventh.

Losing pitcher Jenny Brayl struck out three and walked three and yielded the decisive run in the second inning when Debbie Stull was walked, moved to second when Michele LaMance's grounder was bobbled and eventually scored on Sandy Mattson's sacrifice fly.

The Tigers threatened again in the sixth and loaded the bases after LaMance and Stull singled, but they couldn't score.

Wisniewski was near perfect against Bedford in the first round of the district playoffs at Huron. She turned back the highly-touted club, 7-0. She notched nine whiffs and one walk. The Tiger whiz was working on a no-hitter when Kelly Meinhardt came to the plate in the seventh and opened up with a triple. With a runner on third and no-out, Judy's sister, Karen, came to the rescue when she grabbed a hard hit ball to third, fired it to first for one out. The ball was quickly relayed home to get the Temperance runner for the double play.

Wisniewski then fanned the next batter to preserve the shutout.

Jill Pence and Kim Thick each had two hits for the winners who scored six times in the first inning when Pence drilled a leadoff double, moved to third on a wild pitch and scored with Thick's single. Four successive errors paved the road for the five additional runs.

In the finals, Wisniewski put down a fine Ann Arbor Pioneer team 2-0 as she tossed a four-hitter, struck out two and didn't walk a batter.

The Tigers put their first run on the board in the opening frame as Pence bunted, stole second and moved to third when Thick also laid down a successful bunt. Stull's sacrifice fly drove in the run. In the sixth inning the champs added an insurance run thanks to a walk to Debbie Sumner, who eventually scored on a pair of miscues and a wild pitch.

In the seventh, the Pioneers gave the local team a scare as Wisniewski was tagged for back-to-back singles. However, the Tiger hurler calmed down and got the next two batters on harmless popups and the third and final out on a ground ball to Thick who threw out the baserunners.

A perfect 7-0 season

Tigers capture track title

It's been a perfect conference season for Belleville High head track coach Dave Medley and the Tigers.

Medley bid his old rivals "good-bye" by capturing the final version of the Suburban 8 Conference championship to wind down an untarnished 7-0 dual meet year.

It was the first time that one Suburban 8, which had dwindled to four teams in its final year, saw an "outsider" win the title. The track title has been monopolized by the Bridges brothers, who coach at Dearborn and Edsel Ford.

Belleville scored 112 points to easily defeat its closest rival, Dearborn, which had 66 points, to win the title. Edsel Ford came next with 58, followed by Trenton with 37.

The Tigers also captured six of the 16 events. They took two of the three relays, winning the 440-yarder with Brent Embry, Tim Palmer, Steve Turrentine and Earnell Hailes in 45.4. With Tony Loechli, Ty Patton, Deon Kennedy and Leonard Armstrong, the Belleville mile relay team was the best in the conference.

Belleville's Dell Magee also won the half-mile run in 2:02.1, while John Fisher and Dave Ciaverella gave the Tigers a 1-2 finish in the mile run. Rod Laframboise put the shot put away for the Tigers with a 48 feet, 9 inch performance.

Medley, who has fielded the track team since 1976 and was once an outstanding distance runner for the Tigers, was pleased with his team's perfect 7-0 dual record. He was equally pleased with winning the conference's final championship.

"It's much easier to say good-bye this way to the league," Medley noted.

A milestone reached

Not only do they boast an enviable 28-2-1 won-lost record, but Belleville High's girls' varsity softball team has captured the final Suburban 8 Conference championship and their first Class A district tournament title to qualify for Saturday's regional championships at Plymouth. The Tigers' winning combination this year includes: Carrie Kobish (front row, from left), Sandy Mattson, Laurie Schreckengost, Tina Cicotte, Debbie Sumner, Jill Pence, Carol Wisniewski and Jane Kause; second row are Coach Peggy Curtis, manager Mia Bridges, Michelle LaMance, Judy Wisniewski, Kim Thick, Debbie Stull, Dawn Zajac, assistant coach Nancy Wisniewski and club statistician, Nancy Orr.

Wayne ousted from playoffs

It took Redford Thurston nine innings, but the Eagles destroyed Wayne Memorial's playoff dreams last Saturday.

The Northwest Suburban Baseball Conference champs rallied for four runs in the top of the ninth to stun the Zebras 5-1 in the first round of the Class A district playoffs staged at Dearborn High.

"It was an excellent defensive game until the ninth," pointed out Wayne coach Jim Chronowski. "We just ran into some trouble in that ninth and couldn't manage to overcome the problems."

Wayne grabbed an early 1-0 lead as Don Vojtkofsky walked and scored when Phil Kaske drilled a two-bagger into the left field corner. However, Thurston tied it up in their second, then the two teams settled down to play defensive ball until that crucial ninth.

Jimmy Newsom got into trouble in that inning when he walked Rich

Osanski, then an error allowed runners on first and second and a bunt single by Bill Foley loaded the bases. Greg Sommerville's two-run single broke the ice and when Newsom walked the next batter, Chronowski replaced him for ace, Eric Schultz, who was greeted with an RBI single. A double play ended the inning.

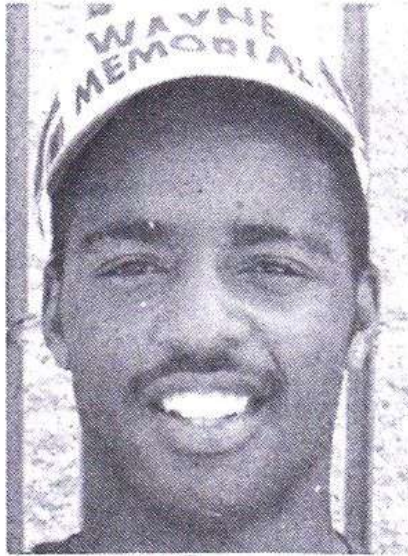

"The damage had already been done," said Chronowski whose team finished the 1983 campaign with an impressive 17-7 over-all record and the final Great Lakes 8 Conference title.

"Our strategy for the playoffs was that we'd pitch Newsom, then go with Schultz in the championship round if we had won," Chronowski explained. "Jimmy pitched an excellent game, good enough to win it."

Newsom struck out one and walked five. He was tagged for 11 hits. Thurston's Ed Dumas, a lefthander, worked 7 $\frac{1}{3}$ innings, gave up all three Wayne hits, and was yanked in the eighth when Donny V. and Kaske got aboard — Kaske getting his second single. Dumas left the game for a righthander who faced Schultz and got him out to end the game.

"The middle of the line-up went dry on us," Chronowski said, and, although it happens, it happened at the wrong time this time."

Garden City, which eliminated Detroit Cooley in their preliminary round, knocked off Thurston to qualify for Saturday's regional tournament at Plymouth Canton.

SHAUN BOYER

Boyer runs 4th in state

Although local athletes had their problems at the Class A state track and field championships held Saturday in Jackson, Wayne Memorial's Sean Boyer proved he's one of the best quarter-milers in the state.

Boyer, also an outstanding gridder, finished fourth in the 440-yard event as he was clocked in 48.9.

Wayne Coach Robert Lynn had to scratch his excellent hurdler and his relay team from the state meet when Marvin Parnell reinjured his leg.

"Marvin had a torn muscle he sustained in the Hidenfelter Relays," Lynn said, "and the injury reoccurred. He was scratched from the high hurdles, and since he is a key man in the mile relay, we didn't run that event either."

We all remember Dick Robb

by ALAN WALTZ

Since my last article dealt with one of the top notch high school coaches to ever grace our area, I feel it's only fair to keep going, only this time we're talking about the playground level.

You know, the boys who went to the park everyday, got hollered at by their parents for missing lunch, (we never went home for lunch), because that would interrupt the ball game and we would never do that.

If we did, the rest of our team wouldn't let us play the next day. That's right. If you went home for lunch, you sat out the next day.

One of the first playground supervisors in Wayne back in the middle 1940s was a man named Dick Robb. He was born and raised in Salem, Illinois and played football and basketball in high school.

After graduation in 1939, he got a football scholarship to Southeast Louisiana College. He played one year there and then in 1941 came to Dearborn to work for the Ford Motor Co. and played basketball for the company team. But it wasn't until 1946 when he came to work for the Wayne Recreation Dept. as a volunteer playground helper that he started touching the hearts of the little devils who roamed the parks in those days. He didn't have a easy time.

He had to handle umpiring all the ball games while seeing that all equipment was checked in and out and also seeing that all the kids paid their — 50 cents for a recreation card. He had to chalk the foul lines, put in the bases, rake the fields (although the boys helped with that) and many other little things involved to keep 35 to 50 kids occupied on the playground at one time.

Quite a little job for a "volunteer" helper I'd say. While umpiring a ball game one day Chappie Reynolds (one of the better playground ballplayers questioned one of Robb's calls at first base. Dick said, "sorry son, but I said he was out and he's out, so play ball or you'll be out... of the game that is." Chappie never said a word but laughed when Dick didn't see him after the inning was over.

Another time Robb was fooling around in a game and there was a close play at third base. Everyone was anxiously awaiting the decision... out or safe?

Dick said it's too close to call... do it over. Everyone laughed and that one was all over Wayne the next day. Dick says his happiest days were the ones he put in on those playgrounds and didn't get paid a cent but his influence on those kids still holds today.

Many of them still call him on the phone for advice about whatever's bothering them at the time. He always listens carefully and analyzes and then gives his answer and it's usually right on the button and solves the problem that up until that time was very worrisome to one of his boys. While he was working on the playground in those days, Dick also did the coaching, teaching the boys the proper methods for fielding, hitting and base-running along with sound advice on basketball and football techniques.

With all this volunteer work, a lot of people forget what a basketball player Dick was. As a member of the Wayne Moose team in the Class "A" basketball league around Wayne in 1948 and 1949 their team was undefeated and barn-stormed around Michigan playing all the top semi-pro teams usually holding their own against the best teams in the state.

Members of that team besides Dick were Jim West, Al Horton, Malcolm Barrett, Bob Nipp, Glen Rowe and Vince Muzzarro.

In 1976, Dick retired from his job with the City of Wayne and was duly honored with a very nice retirement party.

He now lives on his small farm in Belleville and is enjoying his retirement although he says he yearns for those days on the playground once in awhile.

Well I suppose you're wondering why I'm writing all this but I believe that Dick was such a tremendous influence on all the boys in those days that he deserves to be recognized.

In the weeks to come, I will be giving you more of this for there were others; unsung heroes like Angelo DeMario, Howard Glass, and many more who deserve recognition. By the way Dick, thanks for getting me that job at Detroit Edison. For that I'm ever grateful. Take good care of yourself cause we still need you around to give us you sage advice. We all love ya you know.

McNabb: Bowler of the Year

By JIM WRUBLEWSKI (ANP Special Writer)

Now that the winter bowling season is behind us, the banquets over, and league prizes distributed it's time to honor those bowler's whose achievements are a step above the rest. Bowlers who have recorded the kind of scores most of us just dream of rolling.

This year the Wayne Westland Mens Bowling Association will present awards for (15) 300 games, (7) 299 games, (1) 298 game, and (4) 800 series. Also receiving awards will be seven winners of the "Bowler of the Month" contest (bowlers who have rolled the most pins over average each month during this past season).

The premier honoree, at this event, will be Ken McNabb who rolled two consecutive 300 games in a single league session. Ken's moment of glory came on April 15 in the Westland Bowl Mixed Classic. According to American Bowling Congress records, Ken is only the 7th bowler in its 83 year history to achieve this feat.

Additional recipients of 300 game awards will be Len Hobson, Christopher Carlson, Tim Detherage, Ron Eisenbeis, Ernie Gazdag, Jr., Frank Mugerichian, Don Freeman, Jay Dishong, Randy Oncza, Bob Schmidt, Rtom Romej, Ron Aman and Charlie Riffle.

Awards for 299 games will be presented to Tim Detherage, Jim Strange, Alan Bykiwski, Charlie Riffle, Richard Porter, Dick Bono, and Joe Panik. Fred Fochler will receive an award for his 298 game.

High series awards were won by Bob Shonce at Westland Bowl with an 827 series; Tom Laroue at Fiesta Lanes with 814; Ron Eisenbeis at Super Bowl with 789; Tim Hoepner at Town 'N Country with 781; and Jerry Fritts at Wayne Bowl with a 706 series. 800 series awards will also be presented to Ken McNabb for an 816 series and James Griffith for an 802 total.

Bowlers of the month winners are Fred Fochler, Doug Thorsby, Dan Drew, Sam Shepard, Dale Harrou, Sy Valdivia, and Robert Salutes.

The official winners of the recently completed Wayne Westland Mens Bowling Association championships have been announced and will be honored at the banquet. The team event was won by the Fiesta Lanes team of Rich Newton, Jim Pierce, Dan Jacobs, Mark Kellar, and Jack Neece with a 3404 total. The doubles event leaders were Steve Long and Tim Smittle with 1411; the singles event was won by Joe Charnawskas with a 742 total; and the all events title was taken by Steve Long with a 9-game total of 2171 including handicap.

The public is invited to the awards dinner dance which will be held on Saturday, June 18 at the UAW Hall on Van Born and Middlebelt Rd. Tickets at $12.50 per person and include a buffet dinner, open bar, door prizes, and dancing to the big bands sounds of a 16 piece band. Tickets, and additional information, are available from association director, Wil Simonos 729-4692, or the association office 525-0814.

Local bowling enthusiasts are going to have an excellent opportunity to not only watch some of the finest bowlers in this area they will also be able to team up with them in a pro-am tournament to be held at Lodge Lanes.

Local professionals such as Bob Strampe, Mitch Jabczynski, Bob Chamberlain, Bob Goike, Jr., Allie Clarke, and Rocky Graziani are scheduled to compete in the Lodge Lanes Open, P.B.A. regional event, in mid-August. This is a resident professional championship with the pros qualifying rounds taking place throughout the day Saturday, August 13 and the final round beginning Sunday, August 14 at 11 a.m.

The Pro Am tourney will be held Friday, August 12 with squads at 7 and 9:15 p.m. Entry fee is $16 with first prize at $300. Reservations and information are available at Lodge Lanes in Belleville or by calling 697-9178.

For those who have set aside the bowling ball in favor of the summer (?) game called golf and would like to help a worthy cause can sign up for Glenn Coffey's 3rd annual charity golf outing to be held July 10 at the Fox Hills Golf Club. Cost for this event is $45 which includes 18 holes of golf, cart, a steak dinner, and prizes with proceeds going to aid the autistic program of Garden City. Contact Glenn at 729-2669 for reservations and information.

Malarkey claims softball tourney

Malarkey's Pub, reigning United States Slow-Pitch Softball Association Mixed National co-champion, won its first tournament of the season last weekend in Stanton, Michigan.

Malarkey's, composed of men and women from Dearborn, Westland, Milford and Taylor, took top honors in the Double-Six Double Round Robin Tournament by compiling a 5-1 record.

Malarkey's succumbed to Bud Lite from Mt. Pleasant, 4-3, in the opening game, but then fell to the Frigid Ballers from Ann Arbor twice, 17-12 and 11-4, topped the Hiney Wine Company of Luther, 24-23 and 8-4, and avenged the loss to Bud Lite with a 15-12 triumph.

Romulus horsemen to host Paso Finos

By JUDY JOHNSON

Of the 250,000 horses in the State of Michigan, only a mere 110 are the beautiful South American Paso Fino Horses.

And the Romulus Horseman's Association will have an opportunity to host the first Paso Fino Horse exhibition held in this area.

On Wednesday, June 15 at 7:30 p.m. there will be a Paso Fino film presentation followed by a live horse demonstration at Hershel Gray's Carleton Equestrian Center on Newburg Road in Carleton.

In the late 1950s, the first people to bring Paso Finos into this country in substantial numbers were military families who had become attached to their horses while living at Ramey Air Force Base near Aquadilla, Puerto Rico.

Although this is still a comparatively rare breed of horses here in the United States (only 6100 total compared to 6000 total of all breeds in Wayne County alone), it is a very old and well established breed of horses in South America with a rather colorful background.

When Columbus prepared for his second voyage to America, he selected from the Spanish provinces of Cordela and Andalusia 20 stallions and 5 broodmares which were to make the voyage with him. These horses were a mixture of Barbs, Andalusians and Spanish Jennets, a now extinct breed, noted for their comfortable saddle gait and the ability to pass this gait on to their offspring.

Suffering unbelievable hardships during their long voyage, these animals reached the Dominican Republic and became the foundation stock of the remount stations for the Conquistadors who, wearing heavy armor, traveled great distances over rough terrain.

The blending of these horses also became known as the Paso Fino breed, whose name is Spanish for "fine step" or "delicate walk." This inherited smooth comfortable riding gait has been maintained in the breed as the Paso developed through the years in Columbia and Peru where survival meant endurance, sure-footedness and agility as well as on the smaller Caribbean land areas, principally Puerto Rico, the Dominican Republic and Cuba.

The amazing endurance and hardness exhibited by these horses is a trait which still survives in the modern Paso of today. Further selective and careful breeding is developing a finer horse than its prodigious ancestors — a truly American Paso Fino, the smoothest riding horse in the world.

The sequence of the hoof movements for the Paso Fino gait is: right rear, right fore, left rear, left fore with the hind foot touching the ground a fraction of a second before the front foot. There must be a definite 1, 2, 3, 4 beat with no up and down movement of the rider. The motion of the horse is absorbed in its back and loins giving the rider unequalled comfort. This gait is performed at three speeds:

The Classic Fino — the classic show ring gait in which the horse demonstrates rapid, steady rhythm and very slow forward speed. Only about ten percent of the breed are truly capable of performing this gait; Paso Corto — a more relaxed form of the gait ideal for trail and pleasure riding; Paso Largo — the speed form of the gait.

The Paso Fino gait is a natural inherited trait; therefore, no artificial devices such as chains, rattles, boots and weighted or special shoeing is permitted under the Paso Fino Owners and Breeder Association rules in the training or exhibiting of these horses.

The Paso Fino is a light horse equally elegant and tough not requiring enormous size to make them useful with the most typical horse standing 14 to 14.2 hands and weighing approximately 700 lbs. (Horses are measured at the withers which is the high point of the shoulders located between the neck and back and measured in hands equalling 4 inches to a hand). The natural qualities of this horse make the Paso Fino today's fastest rising star in the equine market.

Members of the Great Lakes Paso Fino Federation wearing the traditional Spanish costume will be bringing at least one Classic Fino Horse, several performance show horses and several pleasure riding horses to the demonstration. Added to this group will be local horse club member and Romulus resident Jim Brown and his newly acquired Puerto Rican Paso Fino, "Tequila deVista Grande," believed to be the only Paso presently residing in Wayne County.

The Romulus Horseman's Association meetings are opened to the public and there will be no admission charge for this special live exhibition of the beautiful Paso Fino Horse held at the Carleton Equestrian Center.

Directions to the Center are 275 Expressway to Will Carleton Road Exit, West on Will Carleton to Maxwell Road, South on Maxwell one mile to Newburg Road, West on Newburg one mile to Center.

For further information on the demonstration please call the Carleton Equestrian Center, 654-9417 or Jim and Alyce Brown 942-9220. For further information on the Paso Fino Horse write, Paso Fino Owners and Breeders Association, Inc., P.O. Box 600, Bowling Green, Florida 33834, (813) 375-4721.
